NOTE: If MCC Chapter 1-23, Article I applies to the Applicant, that Article's permanent compliance timeframe supersedes 5-year compliance timeframes in this Section V.
9. [FOR APPLICANT ONLY] The Applicant and its Affiliated Entities will not use, nor permit their subcontractors to use, any facility listed as having an active exclusion by the U.S. EPA on the federal System for Award Management ("SAM").
10. [FOR APPLICANT ONLY] The Applicant will obtain from any contractors/subcontractors hired or to be hired in connection with the Matter certifications equal in form and substance to those in Certifications (2) and (9) above and will not, without the prior written consent of the City, use any such

Please check either (1) or (2) below. If the Disclosing Party checks (2), the Disclosing Party must disclose below or in an attachment to this EDS all information required by (2). The Corporation, for itself and its affiliates and subsidiaries including BANA, makes all disclosures required by its regulators in its Annual Reports on Form 10-K and Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q, which are updated in Reports on Form 8-K, all of which are filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (collectively, the "Reports"). These Reports include all disclosures as required by federal law including those pertaining to material business matters such as litigation, debarment, criminal convictions, and other legal actions, and may contain information which is further responsive to items addressed in the FIES FORM and this Addendum. These Reports are publicly available at the following website: <http://investor.bankofamerica.com/phoenix.zhtml?c=71595&p=irol-sec>. Further, BANA has been the subject of certain formal enforcement actions by the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (the "OCC"), and information which can be publicly disclosed regarding these formal enforcement actions may be found on the Legal and Regulatory: Enforcement Actions page on the OCC's website at: <http://apps.occ.gov/EnforcementActions/>. In addition, BANA's registered broker dealer and investment adviser subsidiaries make all required disclosures on their Form BDs as filed with FINRA (formerly the NASD) and their Form ADVs as filed with the SEC. These filings include disclosures of investigations and litigation as required by the SRO's and federal law, and are also publicly available. Outside of such Reports and the publicly available filings as noted above, BANA and the Corporation cannot otherwise disclose such information of material non-public nature except where required by applicable law or legal process.

Bank of America, National Association has been the subject of certain formal enforcement actions by the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (the "OCC"). Information regarding these formal enforcement actions may be found on the Legal and Regulatory: Enforcement Actions page on the OCC's website at: <http://www.occ.treas.gov/EnforcementActions/>

ADDENDUM B-

CITY OF CHICAGO AFFIDAVIT DISCLOSING SLAVERY ERA PARTICIPATION, INVESTMENTS, OR PROFITS

Bank of America, National Association (“BANA”) is a direct, wholly owned subsidiary of BAC North America Holding Company (“BACNA”). BACNA is a direct, wholly owned subsidiary of NB Holdings Corporation (“NB Holdings”). NB Holdings is a direct, wholly owned subsidiary of Bank of America Corporation. Bank of America Corporation (the “Corporation”) is a publicly held company whose shares are traded on the New York Stock Exchange and has no parent corporation. Based on the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission Rules regarding beneficial ownership, Berkshire Hathaway Inc., 3555 Farnam Street, Omaha, Nebraska 68131, beneficially owns greater than 10% of Bank of America Corporation’s outstanding common stock, which is a large and diversified, publicly-traded institution. The Corporation and its subsidiaries including BANA, is a global franchise, serving customers and clients around the world with operations in all 50 U.S. states, the District of Columbia, and more than 40 foreign countries. Given the size and breadth of the Bank of America family of companies, the extensive number of predecessor companies and the lack of availability of records for all predecessors dating back the slavery era, it is not reasonably possible to perform definitive due diligence across the full panoply of predecessor companies. In 2005, the Corporation engaged the research firm, Heritage Research Center, Ltd. to perform an extensive review of predecessor companies existing at the time to determine ties with slavery. The Heritage firm reported that they “did not identify any instances or occasions in which any Bank of America legacy banks made a profit from slavery.” The firm found examples of abolitionist sentiment among founders and directors of several of the bank’s predecessors, and strong objections to doing business with commercial interests involved in slavery in the bank’s predecessors’ histories. The firm also found two connections to slavery in the histories of the bank’s predecessors. In 1863, two predecessor banks of Bank of America – Boatmen’s Bank and Southern Bank in St. Louis – joined four other businesses in taking a security interest against all of the property of Charles McLaran for a past due debt. Mr. McLaran apparently owned slaves and the category “slaves” was listed in the agreement among the types of property pledged as security. That same year, Mr. McLaran paid his debts in full and the institutions released their claim on his property. At no time did any of the businesses own any of the slaves. In 1840, John Forsyth, Secretary of State of the United States, proposed to the directors of Bank of the Metropolis in Washington, D.C. to pledge slaves as security against an amount in dispute over a dishonored note, and the board agreed in principle to the proposal. The available evidence suggests that Forsyth and the directors reached an alternative arrangement several weeks later, and that the bank “did not file or receive a mortgage with Forsyth’s slaves as collateral.

CITY OF CHICAGO AFFIDAVIT DISCLOSING SLAVERY ERA PARTICIPATION, INVESTMENTS, OR PROFITS

Bank of America, National Association (“BANA”) is a direct, wholly owned subsidiary of BAC North America Holding Company (“BACNA”). BACNA is a direct, wholly owned subsidiary of NB Holdings Corporation (“NB Holdings”). NB Holdings is a direct, wholly owned subsidiary of Bank of America Corporation. Bank of America Corporation (the “Corporation”) is a publicly held company whose shares are traded on the New York Stock Exchange and has no parent corporation. Based on the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission Rules regarding beneficial ownership, Berkshire Hathaway Inc., 3555 Farnam Street, Omaha, Nebraska 68131, beneficially owns greater than 10% of Bank of America Corporation’s outstanding common stock, which is a large and diversified, publicly-traded institution. The Corporation and its subsidiaries including BANA, is a global franchise, serving customers and clients around the world with operations in all 50 U.S. states, the District of Columbia, and more than 40 foreign countries. Given the size and breadth of the Bank of America family of companies, the extensive number of predecessor companies and the lack of availability of records for all predecessors dating back the slavery era, it is not reasonably possible to perform definitive due diligence across the full panoply of predecessor companies. In 2005, the Corporation engaged the research firm, Heritage Research Center, Ltd. to perform an extensive review of predecessor companies existing at the time to determine ties with slavery. The Heritage firm reported that they “did not identify any instances or occasions in which any Bank of America legacy banks made a profit from slavery.” The firm found examples of abolitionist sentiment among founders and directors of several of the bank’s predecessors, and strong objections to doing business with commercial interests involved in slavery in the bank’s predecessors’ histories. The firm also found two connections to slavery in the histories of the bank’s predecessors. In 1863, two predecessor banks of Bank of America – Boatmen’s Bank and Southern Bank in St. Louis – joined four other businesses in taking a security interest against all of the property of Charles McLaran for a past due debt. Mr. McLaran apparently owned slaves and the category “slaves” was listed in the agreement among the types of property pledged as security. That same year, Mr. McLaran paid his debts in full and the institutions released their claim on his property. At no time did any of the businesses own any of the slaves. In 1840, John Forsyth, Secretary of State of the United States, proposed to the directors of Bank of the Metropolis in Washington, D.C. to pledge slaves as security against an amount in dispute over a dishonored note, and the board agreed in principle to the proposal. The available evidence suggests that Forsyth and the directors reached an alternative arrangement several weeks later, and that the bank “did not file or receive a mortgage with Forsyth’s slaves as collateral.

CITY OF CHICAGO AFFIDAVIT DISCLOSING SLAVERY ERA PARTICIPATION, INVESTMENTS, OR PROFITS

Bank of America, National Association (“BANA”) is a direct, wholly owned subsidiary of BAC North America Holding Company (“BACNA”). BACNA is a direct, wholly owned subsidiary of NB Holdings Corporation (“NB Holdings”). NB Holdings is a direct, wholly owned subsidiary of Bank of America Corporation. Bank of America Corporation (the “Corporation”) is a publicly held company whose shares are traded on the New York Stock Exchange and has no parent corporation. Based on the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission Rules regarding beneficial ownership, Berkshire Hathaway Inc., 3555 Farnam Street, Omaha, Nebraska 68131, beneficially owns greater than 10% of Bank of America Corporation’s outstanding common stock, which is a large and diversified, publicly-traded institution. The Corporation and its subsidiaries including BANA, is a global franchise, serving customers and clients around the world with operations in all 50 U.S. states, the District of Columbia, and more than 40 foreign countries. Given the size and breadth of the Bank of America family of companies, the extensive number of predecessor companies and the lack of availability of records for all predecessors dating back the slavery era, it is not reasonably possible to perform definitive due diligence across the full panoply of predecessor companies. In 2005, the Corporation engaged the research firm, Heritage Research Center, Ltd. to perform an extensive review of predecessor companies existing at the time to determine ties with slavery. The Heritage firm reported that they “did not identify any instances or occasions in which any Bank of America legacy banks made a profit from slavery.” The firm found examples of abolitionist sentiment among founders and directors of several of the bank’s predecessors, and strong objections to doing business with commercial interests involved in slavery in the bank’s predecessors’ histories. The firm also found two connections to slavery in the histories of the bank’s predecessors. In 1863, two predecessor banks of Bank of America – Boatmen’s Bank and Southern Bank in St. Louis – joined four other businesses in taking a security interest against all of the property of Charles McLaran for a past due debt. Mr. McLaran apparently owned slaves and the category “slaves” was listed in the agreement among the types of property pledged as security. That same year, Mr. McLaran paid his debts in full and the institutions released their claim on his property. At no time did any of the businesses own any of the slaves. In 1840, John Forsyth, Secretary of State of the United States, proposed to the directors of Bank of the Metropolis in Washington, D.C. to pledge slaves as security against an amount in dispute over a dishonored note, and the board agreed in principle to the proposal. The available evidence suggests that Forsyth and the directors reached an alternative arrangement several weeks later, and that the bank “did not file or receive a mortgage with Forsyth’s slaves as collateral.
